My teacher is my guide

The teacher is a noble and necessary profession, but at the same time it is very complicated. They say that a teacher is a compass that activates the magnets of curiosity, knowledge and wisdom in the pupils. He should not only teach or explain. His real task is to inspire his pupils to learn and lead them out of the darkness. Indeed it's so true.

I still remember my first teacher, who was rather strict and fair-minded. At the same time, she was kind and tolerant to all the pupils in the class. Her name is Tamara Shakrovna. She taught us all the basic subjects. That's why I'm very grateful to her. She taught us to read and write, to add figures and subtract. She also taught us to notice the beauty of surrounding nature. She taught me the most important rule in the life: «No pain, no gain». We never got excellent marks unless we made some effort. The most important qualities for any teacher are intelligence, fair-mindedness, good communicational skills, respect for others and most importantly positive attitude.

A teacher is a person who should try to understand every kid and to treat him or her individually. These people give so much energy to their job. They try to make all the lessons interesting. They spend lots of time at school with children, educating and somehow entertaining them. Tamara Shakrovna is one of them. She spent all her free time helping us with homework or discussing our progress with our parents. If something was difficult for our understanding, she always tried to explain it in a simpler way, using some visual aids.

I'm a teacher now. I am proud that we were taught by great teachers. I try to be an interesting and important person for my students. Despite all these difficulties, it seems to me, it is great to be a teacher, because you always get real pleasure to see how a child acquires new knowledge, and then starts to make progress in learning.
